Welcome Message

from Gary Dale Cearley, AerOceaNetwork's Executive Director

"Warsaw was once dubbed the 'Paris of the East' as it was a jewel in the Polish crown. The capital and largest city of Poland, and with Krakow, historically important to the soul of the Polish people, Warsaw is an excellent setting for a meeting of friends. The location of Warsaw is not only near the heart of Poland but also the heart of Europe in one of the continent's most vibrant nations. I have wanted to go to Warsaw since I was a young sailor in the US navy. It was then that I read the novel by James Michener, Poland. I saw the importance of this place in not only Polish culture but to that of the central Europeans in general and the Slavic peoples in particular. Warsaw is a sprawling and vibrant city that is of quietly growing importance in the EU. More and more Poland is making ties with other parts of the world as well. I want us to do our part in helping their prestige to grow even more.

I look forward to meeting each and every one of you in Warsaw. Making business and making friends is what this is all about and I am sure you find that Warsaw will be not just a welcome backdrop, but a central stage for our continued success.

I can't wait to see you there!"

About Warsaw, Poland.

Warsaw, Polish Warszawa, city, capital of Poland. Located in the east-central part of the country, Warsaw is also the capital of Mazowieckie województwo (province).

Warsaw is notable among Europe's capital cities not for its size, its age, or its beauty but for its indestructibility. It is a phoenix that has risen repeatedly from the ashes of war. Having suffered fearful damage during the Swedish and Prussian occupation of 1655–56, it was again assaulted in 1794, when the Russian army massacred the population of the right-bank suburb of Praga. In 1944, after the Warsaw Uprising failed, by Adolf Hitler's order the city was razed; the left-bank suburbs, controlled by the Germans, were emptied of their remaining population; and the buildings were systematically reduced to rubble by fire and dynamite. In 1945, however, the people of Warsaw, the Varsovians, returned, and the city resumed its role as the capital of Poland and the country's centre of social, political, economic, scientific, and cultural life. Many of the historical streets, buildings, and churches have been restored exactly according to their original forms.

Since the second half of the 18th century, the emblem of Warsaw (originally a siren) has been a mermaid with sword and shield in hand, representing the creature who in legend led a prince to the site of Warsaw and ordered him to found the city. The city's motto is, appropriately, "Contemnit procellas" ("It defies the storms").
