Barcelona, Spain

We would like to cordially invite you and the members of AerOceaNetwork (AON) to join us in beautiful Barcelona for an exciting logistics and networking event. As a leading Southwestern European and international logistics hub, Barcelona is the perfect location for our event, where members can connect with industry leaders and learn about the latest advancements in logistics and supply chain management.

Barcelona is strategically located on the Mediterranean coast, making it an ideal location for both European and global trade. The Port of Barcelona is one of the busiest in the Mediterranean, handling a wide variety of goods, including containers, Ro-Ro, and liquid bulk. Additionally, the city is home to several major logistic parks, providing easy access to main European markets.

Beyond logistics, Barcelona is also a renowned tourist destination, known for its rich history, culture, and architecture. The city is home to numerous landmarks, including the iconic Sagrada Familia, Park Guell, and La Rambla. The city's vibrant food scene, featuring traditional Catalan cuisine, is not to be missed.

The event will take place at Hyatt Regency Barcelona Tower on October 30 - November 2, with plenty of networking opportunities. We hope you'll take advantage of this chance to come together with AerOceaNetwork members, gain new insights and knowledge, and enjoy all that Barcelona has to offer.

If you need help with hotel booking or other arrangements, please let us know. We will be happy to assist you.

Located on the Mediterranean coast, Barcelona is one of the world's most popular tourist destinations. This cosmopolitan city is also one of Spain's most important economic, cultural and commercial hubs, attracting both leisure and business tourism from all over the globe. Every year, thousands of tourists visit Barcelona to discover its uniqueness or attend numerous conferences, committees and other types of meetings.

Barcelona is brimming with culture. It has numerous renowned museums like the Fundació Joan Miró or the Museu Picasso, but you'll appreciate the city's love for art by simply strolling through its streets filled with history and charm. Barcelona's famous artist Antonio Gaudí dedicated his years to filling the city with life and magic through iconic works of architecture such as the famous Sagrada Família, the beautiful modernist building of La Pedrera, and the amazing Park Güell which can be seen throughout the city.

Apart from its museums and monuments, Barcelona is not only art, but also has a more relaxed side shown in the form of sunny beaches that combine perfectly with a delicious gastronomy, details that make the city a real paradise for all kinds of visitors to the city.

If there ever were a city to be defined as “cosmopolitan,” it would be Barcelona. More international than Spanish, it has been a vital Mediterranean port for centuries. Just spend a sunny afternoon hanging your feet off the docks of Port Vell and you’ll immediately notice the diversity of nationalities, cultures, ethnicities and languages that Barcelona encompasses.

The Catalan people speak two official tongues –Catalan and Spanish. The Euro (€) is the currency used in Barcelona, like in the rest of Spain and most countries in the European Union. It is the capital and largest city of the autonomous community of Catalonia, as well as the second most populous municipality of Spain. With a population of 1.6 million within city limits, its urban area extends to numerous neighbouring municipalities within the Province of Barcelona and is home to around 4.8 million people, making it the fifth most populous urban area in the European Union after Paris, the Ruhr area, Madrid, and Milan. It is one of the largest metropolises on the Mediterranean Sea

Barcelona is also a transport hub, with the Port of Barcelona being one of Europe’s principal seaports and busiest European passenger port, an international airport, Barcelona–El Prat Airport, which handles over 50 million passengers per year, an extensive motorway network, and a high-speed rail line with a link to France and the rest of Europe.
